This interdisciplinary and international conference will provide a forum in which mathematicians, engineers, and scientists exchange and develop current and future research endeavors with a focus on computational methods and applications. In addition to the five plenary lectures, the conference will offer mini-symposium sessions with fifty invited talks. There will also be sessions for twenty minute contributed talks. Proceedings of the conference will be published as refereed manuscripts in a special issue of the Journal of Computational and Applied Mathematics (JCAM) by Elsevier.

The abstract submission deadline is April 10, 2022 and the online registration deadline is April 20, 2022. Participants interested in presenting a contributed talk should first submit an abstract to the conference organizers. Once the abstract is approved, participants will be notified and will then need to complete the online registration in order to be included in the final conference program.
